

Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgements  | 5   |
| Map   | 6   |
| A Sense of Place  | 7   |
| Clonown Evictions   | 14  |
| The Barracks  | 24  |
| Clonown National School                                     | 33  |
| A Snapshot in Time  | 45  |
| A Grave Matter  | 60  |
| Emigration  | 63  |
| A Carricknaughton Emigrant                                  | 72  |
| Another Emigrant's Story                                    | 77  |
| The 1954 Flood  | 82  |
| Bogs, Trees and Bogwood                                     | 89  |
| Clonown   | 99  |
| Christmas Morning in Clonown                                | 101 |
| Winter in Clonown   | 102 |
| Stained-Glass Window in Clonown Church                      | 103 |
| Wildlife on the Garavinch                                   | 104 |
| Where Have all the Corncrakes Gone?                         | 109 |
| The Garavinch   | 115 |
| Studying Nature in Clonown School                           | 121 |
| Stained-Glass Windows in Clonown Church                     | 122 |
| The Vernacular House in Clonown                             | 124 |
| Two Events in Clonown's Recent History                      | 131 |
| Corncrakes and Callows                                      | 132 |
| A Kilnamanagh Childhood – Remembering the 1950s             | 134 |
| The National Folklore Collection                            | 140 |
| Lisíní and Cillíní  | 154 |
| The Cillín  | 157 |
| The Country Shop in the First Half of the Twentieth Century | 158 |
| Fairs and Markets in Athlone – A Memory                     | 166 |
| Fr Feeny's Weather Lore Recalled                            | 180 |
| Wedding Customs in South Roscommon                          | 185 |
| Early Family Photographs                                    | 195 |
| 1911 Census   | 197 |
| A Note about our Contributors                               | 208 |